Investment Risks

The risks associated with investment in the Fund are outlined below. Investors should ensure they carefully examine and understand fully these risks before deciding to subscribe to units of the Fund.

Factors that contribute to NAV volatility

Investors are not guaranteed the investment principal that they commit. Investors may incur a loss and the value of their investment principal may fall below par as the result of a decline in NAV. All profits and losses arising from investments in the Fund belong to the investors (beneficiaries). This fund is different from saving deposit.

The funds invest primarily in bonds. The NAV of the Funds may fall and you may suffer a loss for reasons such as a drop in the price of bonds or deterioration in financial conditions and business performance of an issuer of bonds. Investors may also incur losses due to exchange rate fluctuations when investing in assets denominated in foreign currencies.

Major risks of investment trust securities invested in by the Funds are as follows:

Price Fluctuation Risk

- Corporate and government bonds generally have a price fluctuation risk arising from changes in interest rates. Generally, their prices go down when interest rates rise, causing the NAV of the Funds to fall. The degree of price fluctuation varies depending on the remaining time to maturity and the terms of issue in question.

Liquidity Risk

- Where the market size or trading volume is small, buying and selling prices for securities may be greatly affected. This results in the risk that securities cannot be traded at the expected prices, sold at the appraised prices, or that trading volume is limited regardless of prices. This creates the risk of unexpected losses.

Credit Risk

- If a default has occurred or is expected to occur, for issuers of public and corporate bonds or short-term financial assets, the prices of such public and corporate bonds or short-term financial assets decline (the value could even fall to zero). This results in a decline of the Funds' NAVs. In addition, if default in fact occurs, there is a high possibility of being unable to collect invested cash.

Currency Fluctuation Risk

- ◆ Currency Hedge
  - For foreign currency-denominated assets, in principle, currency hedging is carried out in order to reduce currency fluctuation risk. However, currency fluctuation risk cannot be eliminated completely. When currency hedging is carried out, if the yen interest rate is lower than the interest rate of the currency for which hedging is carried out, a hedge cost equivalent to the difference in interest rates is incurred. Hedge costs for currency hedging may be higher than anticipated depending on currency and interest rate trends.
- ◆ No Currency Hedge
  - For foreign-currency-denominated assets, in general, if the yen is stronger than the currencies of such assets, the fund's NAV will decline.

◆ Currency Hedge

Main factors contributing to the discrepancies between Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index JPY Currency Hedged and NAV

This fund seeks to ensure that its NAV has the same volatility as Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index JPY Currency Hedged; however, we cannot always guarantee that the fund will have the same volatility as the Index due to the following factors attributable to this fund and to the investment trust securities invested in by this fund:

- Lag between the timing of fund inflows and the actual purchase of investment trust securities.
- Where the portfolio is adjusted through investment in issues other than the constituent issues of Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index JPY Currency Hedged or through changes in the constituent issues or weighting of Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index JPY Currency Hedged, the trading of individual issues may be affected by market impact or the fund may bear costs such as management fees, brokerage fees and auditing fees.
- The timing and amount of payment for the distribution of the Fund will not be completely the same as the distribution from the underlying bonds; and
- Where derivative transactions such as futures are conducted, discrepancies in price movements between such transactions and part or all of the constituent issues of Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index JPY Currency Hedged.

◆ No Currency Hedge

Main factors contributing to the discrepancies between Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index TTM JPY Currency Unhedged and NAV

This fund seeks to ensure that its NAV has the same volatility as Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index TTM JPY Currency Unhedged; however, we cannot always guarantee that the fund will have the same volatility as the Index due to the following factors attributable to this Fund and to the investment trust securities invested in by this fund:

- Lag between the timing of fund inflows and the purchase of investment trust securities.
- Where the portfolio is adjusted through investment in issues other than the constituent issues of Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index TTM JPY Currency Unhedged or through changes in the constituent issues or weighting of Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index TTM JPY Currency Unhedged, the trading of individual issues may be affected by market impact or the fund may bear costs such as management fees, brokerage fees and auditing fees.
- The timing and amount of payment for the distribution of the Fund will not be completely the same as the distribution from the underlying bonds; and
- Where derivative transactions such as futures are conducted, discrepancies in price movements between such transactions and part or all of the constituent issues of Bloomberg Australia Treasury 7-10 Year Index TTM JPY Currency Unhedged.

Discrepancies between the market prices at which stocks are traded on the Exchange and the NAV
The Funds are listed on and will be publicly traded on the Tokyo Stock Exchange; however, the market price of the units will depend mainly on the demand for the Funds, their investment performances, and how attractive they are to investors in comparison to alternative investments, etc. We cannot predict whether the Funds will be traded as a market value below or above their NAVs.

*The prices of securities targeted for investment of the Funds will fluctuate under the influence of the aforementioned risks. Therefore, please note that the Funds themselves have these risks as well.

* The factors that contribute to fluctuations in the NAV are not limited to those listed above.

Additional Considerations

- The provisions stipulated in Article 37-6 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (the “cooling-off period”) are not applicable to Fund transactions.
- This Fund differs from deposits or insurance policies in that it is not protected by the Deposit Insurance Corporation of Japan or the Policyholders Protection Corporation of Japan. Nor are investment trusts protected by investor protection funds when purchased at banks or other registered financial institutions.
- When the Fund faces big redemption causing short term cash requirement or sudden change in the main trading market condition, there can be temporal decline in the liquidity of holding assets, resulting in the risks that Fund unable to trade securities at the expected market prices or appraised prices, or encounters limitation in trading volume. This may result in the negative influence on NAV, suspension of redemption applications, or delay in making payment of redemption.

Risk Management System

- The departments in charge of risk management and compliance perform the evaluation and analysis of investment performance, the risk management (including liquidity risk) and the monitoring of the status of legal compliance with laws, and are independent from fund management departments.
- To maintain an appropriate management system, the departments in charge of risk management and compliance report and make proposals to the committees associated with risk management and compliance, and instruct fund management departments to take corrective actions as necessary.

*The system described above is as of the end of August 2022, and may be subject to change in the future.

Tax Treatment

Tax treatment for individual investors

1) Taxation upon sale of Units

- Gains on sale (capital gains) are deemed to be income from transfer and thus have to be filed to declare for separate taxation at 20.315%. When a beneficiary has chosen a designated account with tax withholding (an account with tax withholding at the taxpayer's position), tax will be withheld at sources at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.)

2) Taxation upon receipt of income distributions

- Income distributions are regarded as dividend income, and tax is withheld at source at 20.315%. (As a general rule, tax filing is not necessary.) You can also file a tax return, and choose either separated taxation, based on declaration, or consolidated taxation (under which the dividends received deduction is available).

3) Tax on Redemption and Termination Fee

- Gains on termination and redemption (capital gains) are deemed to be income from transfer and thus have to be filed to declare for separate taxation at 20.315%. When a beneficiary has chosen a designated account with tax withholding (an account with tax withholding at the taxpayer's position), tax will be withheld at sources at 20.315%. (As a rule, tax filing is not necessary.)
- By filing a tax return, you can offset losses upon sale (capital losses) against capital gains from listed stocks, dividends etc. from listed stocks, and interest income from public and corporate bonds and such like (as long as separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration). In addition, gains on sale (capital gains), income distributions, and interest income from public and corporate bonds etc. (if separated taxation has been chosen upon declaration) can be offset against capital losses from listed stocks and such like.
- When investing through a Nippon Individual Savings Account (NISA) and a Nippon Individual Savings Account for junior (Junior NISA), income gains and capital gains from the investments in Publicly-offered Equity Investment Trusts will be tax-free for a given period if the investments have been newly purchased within a certain amount every year. Investors need to meet certain conditions, such as having opened a tax-free account at a Distributor. In addition, dividend income and income from transfer which arose from the other account cannot be offset against losses from a NISA account. For further details, please contact a Distributor.
- In cases of being applied to the foreign tax deduction, tax on distributions may differ from the aforementioned descriptions.
- The aforementioned descriptions do not apply to Japanese corporations.
- Above tax rates are as of November 10, 2022, so there may change in the event that tax laws are revised. We recommend that investors consult a tax or similar specialist for details of tax treatment.
